

Developing Community Media to Mitigate the Impact of Fake News

The Goal...

The project will build a community media framework that equips local communities with all the knowledge, skills and competences to develop, manage and maintain a media service to local residents and will harness the potential of available digital and social media platforms to give a voice back to local communities and to promote community cohesion in tackling the 'fake news' epidemic.

Together we will

Increase opportunities for community learning and access to training

Empower communities across Europe to take back control of their news feeds by supporting them to produce reliable community media content

And harness the potential of available digital and social media platforms to give a voice back to local communities and to promote community

What will Wires-Crossed Develop?

Community Audit Toolkit and Report

Using a Participatory Action Research approach, the project will document the digital competence and educational assets within the local community

Community Media Skills Development Resources

A comprehensive suite of modules and resources that will support local community groups to develop their media production skills

Toolkit of Media Moderation Resources

A selection of resources to support the Local Media Management Team to moderate its content

Induction Training for Adult & Community Educators

A bespoke introductory training programme that ensures that they are familiar with all the elements produced by the project

Who are we?

European project across 7 EU countries – Ireland, Germany, Cyprus, Italy, Poland, Croatia, Czech Republic whose focus is to build the skills of ordinary people to cope with the stresses and strains of society today by reducing the impact of fake-news campaigns aimed at damaging the community state
